What Are TIPs?

Treatment Improvement Protocols provide substance abuse treatment professionals and others working in related fields consensus-based, best practice guidelines for the treatment of substance abuse. Each TIP is developed by a non-Federal panel of individuals with content area experience. The panel is chaired by one or more nationally recognized experts who ensure that the guidelines represent the consensus of the treatment field. All TIPs are free.

What Is a Quick Guide?

A Quick Guide clearly and concisely presents the information from a TIP in a pocket-sized booklet. Each Quick Guide is divided into sections to help you locate relevant material quickly. Some contain glossaries of terms or lists of resources. Page numbers from the original TIP are referenced so you can refer to the source document for more detailed information.

What Are KAP Keys?

Also based on TIPs, KAP Keys are brief, handy, durable tools. Keys may include assessment or screening instruments, checklists, and summaries of treatment phases. Printed on coated paper, they can be kept within your reach and consulted frequently. They allow you to locate information easily and to use this knowledge to enhance treatment services.

What Is KAP?

KAP is CSAT's Knowledge Application Program. CSAT, a component of the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA), U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS), works to improve the quality and availability of the Nation's substance abuse treatment services. KAP determines what new, evidence-based treatment information is needed by the field, locates the information, and presents it in readily usable, understandable form.

In a study of practitioners' assessment of TIPs, treatment providers have said that, although the information in each TIP is credible and useful, they often did not have time to read the entire document. They asked for brief products in easily accessible formats so they could find information quickly.

Quick Guides and KAP Keys are two products that address these requests.
